

Mother of Pearl Tiles

The ever increasing reputation of our quality and unique shell tile range stretches throughout Australasia, Asia, Europe and the USA. We manufacture handmade tiles to clients specific size, colour and shell type on site. Mother of Pearl tiles bring a unique look with lustrous and natural beauty to private and commercial bathrooms, foyers and display areas with eyecatching borders and inserts. Highly durable with a protective UV clear finish makes these the ideal finishing touch or complete application.

Tiles are made using Ocean Shell's Mother of Pearl laminate bonded to a ceramic tile base and finished with a durable polyurethane resin coating. They are hot water resistant and able to be cleaned with non-abrasive household cleaners.

Tiles are cut to a standard range of sizes and include four natural shell types - NZ Paua, Abalone Pearl, White Mother of Pearl, Black Mother of Pearl and in a range of colour tints to suit your taste.

Product information

Tiles are coated with UV stable, water and heat resistant two part coating system that can be reapplied to the tile surface at any stage of their use. Although it is currently the most durable system used, it does not fully protect the tile surface from abrasion or corrosive liquids, as is the case with glazed surfaces. It is for this reason that only non-abrasive and non-corrosive cleaning agents MUST be used.

Testing

This product has been subjected to exposure testing by an independent organization under conditions for which it was intended. Results available on request.

Notes

Install with non-sanded grout using meticulous care. Use no harsh abrasives, or corrosive liquids. We recommend additional protection for floors, counter tops and heavy use areas.

Care of Mother of Pearl Tiles

Washing down with warm fresh water prolongs life. Surface should be washed with warm fresh water with liquid detergent added. Spills of liquids like orange juice, blackberry juice, red wine and other stain provoking liquids should be washed away immediately. Heat absorbing mats should be used for hot utensils.
